

PRIVACY NOTICE

Camurus AB (“we”/”Camurus”) is committed to protecting your personal data. All processing of personal data is carried out in accordance with the European Union General Data Protection Regulation (the “GDPR”) and other applicable data protection regulation. This privacy notice describes how we process and use personal data we receive from you in connection with your use of this website and how you can contact us if you have questions regarding our processing of your personal data.

1. What personal data is processed and why?

We collect and process personal data that your web browser makes available whenever you visit this website, including Internet Protocol (IP) address, browser language, geographical location data, date and time, cookies, category of user (e.g. Healthcare Professional) and information about accessed pages. The purpose for collecting and processing such personal data is to make the website available to you and to improve, develop, and enhance the usability of the website.

If you:

- provide your email address in order to access information on this website;
- otherwise register or subscribe for further information on this website; or
- otherwise contact us through this website;

we will also process your name and email address that you submit to us, and any other information you may share with us when registering or otherwise contacting us (e.g. job title), for the purpose of making the website and features on the website available to you.

If you provide your consent, we may use your contact details to contact you about other aspects of our education offer or when new modules are released on this website.

For more information about cookies, please see our cookie policy.

2. What is the legal basis for processing of your personal data?

Camurus only process your personal data where we have legal grounds for the processing. The processing of your personal data for the purpose described above is based on Camurus’ legitimate interest, as we wish to make the website available to you and to improve, develop and enhance the usability of the site to satisfy your needs and improve our support of the website. We have performed a balance of interest assessment and have concluded that our legitimate interest in processing your personal data for these purposes outweighs your potential interest in not having your personal data processed. You are always entitled to object to this assessment and you can read more about your rights below.

3. Who has access to your personal data?

We have implemented appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect your personal data against loss, unlawful access, etc. The number of persons with access to your personal data is limited. Only individuals associated with Camurus that need to process your personal data in accordance with the purposes set forth above will have access to your personal data.

We may share your personal data with other companies within the Camurus group or with other parties working as consultants for Camurus only if necessary to fulfil the purpose stated herein.

We may also share your personal data with external parties that carry out services on our behalf or that we otherwise collaborate with to the extent necessary for the purposes identified herein, such as IT-suppliers or other business partners of Camurus.

We may share your personal data with Docebo, who hosts, develops and offers support for this website

Your personal data will only be transferred to a country outside of EU/EEA if necessary for us to fulfil the purpose of our processing stated herein. When transferring personal data to countries outside the EU/EEA, Camurus will take reasonable efforts and security measures necessary to keep your information secure, and will ensure that the transfer takes place in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.

4. For how long is your personal data stored?

We store your personal data only as long as it is necessary to fulfil the purposes for the processing.

5. What are your rights?

Camurus AB, Reg. No. 556667-9105, address Rydbergs torg 4, 224 84 Lund, Sweden, is the controller of the processing of your personal data. This means that we are responsible for your personal data being processed correctly and in accordance with applicable laws.

You are entitled to know what personal data we are processing, and you can request a copy of your personal data. You are entitled to have incorrect personal data regarding you corrected, and you may in some cases request that we delete your personal data. If you have given your consent to processing of your personal data for an explicit purpose, you may always withdraw such consent. If you want to withdraw your consent, you may contact us through the contact information provided below. You also have the right to object to certain processing of your personal data and request that the processing of your personal data be limited. Please note that limitation or deletion of your personal data may result in functions on the website not working as intended. You are also under certain circumstances entitled to extract your personal data in a machine-readable format and to transfer the personal data to another controller. There may be conditions or limitations to your rights.

If you have questions or wish to exercise your rights, you may contact us at privacy@camurus.com or by mail to the address above.

If you have any objections to or complaints about the way we process your personal data, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the relevant data protection authority.

If any changes are made concerning the processing of your personal data, we will inform you by publishing an updated version of this privacy notice on this website.